

Evolution problem in general relativity

Igor Rodnianski

MIT

irod@math.mit.edu

The talk will focus on mathematical aspects of the evolution problem in General Relativity and review its progress and main challenges. A prominent interaction of Geometry and PDE methods in the subject will be illustrated on examples ranging from incompleteness theorems, formation of trapped surfaces and the recent proof of the L^2 curvature conjecture.